| COLLEGE | College of Nursing |
| PROGRAM | Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner, Graduate Certificate |

The University of Central Florida is committed to providing clear and accurate information to current and prospective students to help inform career planning. The UCF program identified above prepares students for state-regulated professional licensure or certification. However, specific licensure and certification requirements may vary by state or territory. Requirements typically include earning a degree or other educational credential from an institution and program that meet certain requirements in that state (e.g., specific coursework, accredited status); passing a state or national exam; and/or working in the field for a period of time or completing a certain number of clinical hours. If your career plans include pursuing professional licensure or certification, it is important to become educated on the credentialing requirements of the state in which you intend to practice.

Effective July 1, 2024, federal regulation requires the university to meet all educational requirements for state-regulated licensure or certification in every US state and territory where its eligible programs are offered. This disclosure is intended to provide you with information regarding the educational preparation you will receive in your chosen program of studyⁱ.

UCF Program Preparation in the State of Florida

This program meets the educational requirements for certification as an Adult-Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (AGACNP) in the State of Florida. For information on all requirements for this credentialⁱⁱ, please review the Florida Board of Nursing requirements available here: <https://floridasnursing.gov/licensing/advanced-practice-registered-nurse/>.

Graduates of UCF's AGACNP Post-Bachelor's DNP or AGACNP Post-Master's Certificate program are eligible to sit for the Adult-Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (AGACNP) National Board Certification Examination offered by the American Nurses Credentialing Center or the Acute Care Nurse Practitioner-Adult Gerontology (ACNP-AG) National Board Certification Examination offered by the American Association of Critical Care Nurses. Passing either of these certification exams meets the requirements for nurse practitioner board certification nationwide and the license requirements for the State of Florida.

The Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (Graduate Certificate) program is designed for in-person course delivery. Although some limited online options may be available, students must take a preponderance of their coursework in-person within the State of Florida.

UCF Program Preparation in Other US States and Territoriesⁱⁱⁱ

As a participant in the State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements (SARA), UCF is authorized to offer educational programs in all states (except California), the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the US

Virgin Islands. The State of California is not currently a member of SARA, but UCF is separately authorized to offer educational programming there as well.

We are currently unable to determine whether or not the Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (Graduate Certificate) program meets the educational requirements for graduates to be eligible to apply for licensure or certification in any additional states.

If you are interested in seeking licensure or certification outside of the State of Florida, we encourage you to review the appropriate state board of nursing information to determine all requirements needed to obtain your credential of interest. State board of nursing contact information for this field can be found here: <https://apq.ucf.edu/document/statelicensingboards-nursing>. You are also welcome to reach out to the UCF program contact identified below with questions in this regard, and we will do our best to assist you in your career planning.

Enrollment Eligibility Restrictions^{iv}

To comply with federal and state-level restrictions, this program may only enroll students who will be physically located within the State of Florida for the duration of their program of study, including both didactic and clinical experiences. Should you be physically located outside of Florida for more than a vacation or brief visit, regardless of your legal state of residence or the type of license you currently hold, you will be unable to apply or continue your enrollment in this program. These restrictions apply equally to students accepting traveling nurse positions.

Programmatic Accreditation^v

The Adult-Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (AGACNP) programs are accredited nationally by the Commission of Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE). Programmatic accreditation is typically required for state-regulated licensure in this field. Recognition by CCNE is specific to the program and is distinct from UCF's institutional accreditation that is required for other purposes, including UCF's authorization to award federal financial aid to students.

UCF Program Preparation Outside the United States

This disclosure does not address program eligibility in countries outside the United States. We are unable to determine whether or not this program meets the educational requirements for graduates to be eligible to apply for licensure or certification outside the United States. It is important to become educated on the credentialing requirements in the location in which you intend to practice.
