DISCLOSURE REGARDING PROGRAM PREPARATION FOR PROFESSIONAL LICENSURE OR CERTIFICATION

COLLEGE	College of Sciences
PROGRAM	Clinical Psychology PhD

The University of Central Florida is committed to providing clear and accurate information to current and prospective students to help inform career planning. The UCF program identified above prepares students for state-regulated professional licensure or certification. However, specific licensure and certification requirements may vary by state or territory. Requirements typically include earning a degree or other educational credential from an institution and program that meet certain requirements in that state (e.g., specific coursework, accredited status), passing a state or national exam, and/or working in the field for a period of time or completing a certain number of clinical hours. If your career plans include pursuing professional licensure or certification, it is important to become educated on the credentialing requirements of the state in which you intend to practice.

Effective July 1, 2024, federal regulation requires the university to meet all educational requirements for state-regulated licensure or certification in every U.S. state and territory where its eligible programs are offered. This disclosure is intended to provide you with information regarding the educational preparation you will receive in your chosen program of study.[1]

UCF Program Preparation in the State of Florida

The Clinical Psychology (PhD) program is designed for in-person course delivery at the Orlando campus in the state of Florida.

This program meets the educational requirements for licensure as a psychologist in the state of Florida. The Florida Board of Psychology currently requires a total of 4,000 hours of additional supervised experience before licensure in Florida. The Florida Board of Psychology accepts the doctoral-level psychology internship in satisfaction of the first 2,000 hours of the required experience, while the remaining 2,000 hours of supervised experience must be obtained after the PhD degree has been awarded. In addition, applicants for licensure as a psychologist in Florida, and in many other states, must achieve a passing score on both national and state examinations that are taken after the PhD has been awarded.

For information on all requirements for this credential,[2] please review the Florida Board of Psychology licensure requirements available here: https://floridaspsychology.gov/licensing/.

UCF Program Preparation in Other U.S. States and Territories[3]

We have not determined whether this program meets the educational requirements for graduates to be eligible to apply for licensure or certification in any state other than Florida. If you are interested in seeking licensure or certification outside the state of Florida, we encourage you to review the appropriate state licensing board information to determine all requirements needed to obtain your credential of interest. You are also welcome to reach out to the UCF program contact identified below with questions in this regard, and we will do our best to assist you in your career planning.

Enrollment Eligibility Restrictions[4]

To comply with federal enrollment restrictions, UCF may only enroll students physically located in the states or territories where it meets all educational requirements for the credential it prepares students to achieve. Accordingly, we are generally unable to enroll students physically located outside Florida during their first term of enrollment in the program. However, students may be eligible to enroll upon submission of a signed attestation of their intention to pursue licensure in a state or territory where UCF does meet educational eligibility requirements. Please reach out to the program contact listed below for additional guidance in this regard.

Programmatic Accreditation[5]

This program is accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA). Programmatic accreditation is typically required for state-regulated licensure and certification in this field. Recognition by APA is specific to the program and is distinct from UCF's institutional accreditation that is required for other purposes, including UCF's authorization to award federal financial aid to students.

UCF Program Preparation Outside the United States

This disclosure does not address program eligibility in countries outside the United States. We have not determined whether this program meets the educational requirements for graduates to be eligible to apply for licensure or certification outside the United States. It is important to become educated on the credentialing requirements in the location in which you intend to practice.
